HYLAND WITH WHITNEY.

Rumor That the Well-Known Trainer Is to Manage Another Stable.

By Francis Trevelyan. Melancholy claimed Brighton Beach for her own yesterday. The weather was as bad as could be, the track a cheerless expanse of slush, and the winners were as hard to locate as a mosquito in midwinter. One came rolling home, Brian-Sweet, at 7 to 2 on, has all the rest of that Engeman said, but it was determined not to break the continuity of the meeting. According to the gossip of the race course among owners and trainers. John Hyland will sever his connection with Mr. August Belmonat's stable this Fall, and next season will probably handle the flat racers ow need by Mr. W. C. Whitney that run in the name and colors of Mr. Sydney Paget. This rumor, for, so far as can be learned. It amounts to nothing more, while probably probably proved of probably proved of the particular, and while the present trainer. Hegan, has dense well with the charge of the particular tar, John Berand, who has stayed in Edfeakes's care. It is likely that the jumpers may be left with Hogan, while Hyland may take the others. At any rate Mr. Paget could not secure a better trainer than Hyland.

The day began with a tremendous upsuch a possibility, yesterday's, races were nearly postponed. So, at least, Mr. W. A.

'FITZ'S'' POSITION

the Champion.

During all the turmoil incident to half a dozen ambitious heavyweights being placed at close talking range Champion Robert Fitzsimmons has maintained a deep silence. Challenges have been flung broadcast at him and he has been accused of everything from cowardice to physical decay. Fits, however, has remained serenely in the background enjoying existence to the utmost. In response to an urgent telegram from the Journal anent Fitzsimmons's attitude toward Sharkey, the latter having challenged the champion with great Fourth of July impressiveness, Fitzsimmons replied:

"Please talk to my manager on the subject."

Julian returned to New York yesterday, and when questioned by a Journal repre-

and when questioned by a Journal representative gave a clear and comprehensive statement of Fitz's position.

"As to fighting Sharker," said Julian "As to fighting Sharkey," said Julian, "before making a definite statement on that point there are several matters that should be clearly brought into the foreground, First, Fitz made a match with Sharkey in December, 1836. We carried six people to the const, and Fitz trained for the bout. Our travelling and training expenses, added to lawyer's fees subsequent to the robbery, amounted to $5,500. That sum, added to the $10,000 purse of which we were deliberately robbed by Sharkey, Wyatt Earp and the remainder of the gaug, amounts to the neat little sum of $15,500. Fitz whipped Sharkey so he couldn't tell whether he was on fand or sea.

IN WORK OUT.

"At the same time. Fitz cannot see how he can gain anything by beating a man twice. Sharkey has admitted in my presence that Fitz gave him a terrible beating. It strikes me that Sharkey should wipe out the defeat against him in favor of Jeffries before flying at the champon.

"If Jimmy Michael has another sunstroke this year," said a crank who sat in the grand stand and was swept by ocean willing. It strikes me that Sharkey should wipe out the defeat against him in favor of Jeffries. I understand, is only too willing for another match.

"Regarding other men beaten by Fitz, he will not, with a single exception, give any of them another match. The exception is proved the control of the control of the control of the manufacture of the control of the control of the manufacture."

Muckenfuss, Hurst and George Munson Will Be on the Official Staff.

St. Louis, July 13.-Chris Von der Ahe, on the surface at least, is no longer the owner of the St. Louis Baseball Club. It was sold to-day to Edward Becker, a retired capitalist, and principal creditor of the club. It is announced that he will assume complete control.

The officers of the club are to be as fol lows; Edward Becker, president; B. S. Muckerfuss, treasurer; Tim Hurst, manuger, and George Munson, secretary. The atter formerly occupied a similar position with the team. The retirement of Van der Ahe removes POSTPONED. from the game one of its best known char-acters. Possessed of some business ability , overwhelming vanity, and no knowledge of the game, at one time, through the able efforts of Comiskey, captain of the nine, he was in control of one of the best or-ganizations ever put together in a baseball league.
